NEW ACTUATOR FROM SOUTHCO FEATURES INTEGRATED ELECTRONIC LOCK/UNLOCK FUNCTIONALITY FOR CONVENIENT KEYLESS ACCESS

CONCORDVILLE, Pa., July 24, 2019 — Southco, Inc., a global leader in engineered access solutions, has expanded its successful line of actuators with a keyless electronic version designed for rugged applications. Southco's AC-10-EM Actuator with Electronic Lock/Unlock functionality eliminates the need for mechanical key access when connected to a remote access controller, such as a key fob, or to an existing control system, such as a button located within a vehicle's interior.

Southco's AC-10-EM Actuator with Electronic Lock/Unlock features a heavy duty design and corrosion resistant construction, providing robust protection for outdoor applications including off-highway doors and specialty vehicle storage panels. With its recessed handle and flush mount paddle design, the AC-10-EM eases operation when opening panels and doors with a gloved hand, while reducing snag and catch points.

Global Product Manager Cindy Bart adds, "The AC-10-EM Actuator with Electronic Lock/Unlock provides a convenient upgrade to electronic access control. The actuator's corrosion-resistant construction makes it an ideal solution for outdoor applications that require robust performance and remote actuation."
